

A photograph of a stone tunnel with a bright light at the end and a staircase leading up to it. The tunnel walls are made of rough, textured stone. At the top of the tunnel, there is a circular opening with a bright light source. The staircase is made of stone steps and leads up towards the light. The overall scene is dramatic and mysterious.

Marc Deneux

Voyage en Atlantide

Nouvelles hypothèses pour la Sardaigne

NOR